Probate Court Records, Box #1, Pkgs. 1-67

NOTE: Evidently, Union County, South Carolina had a will book which was earlier than their earliest present one that was lost. Many of the early wills found in the probate packets mention that the book they were recorded in is missing and the will in the packet should not be removed due to it being the only instrument. Because of this peculiarity we have chosen to abstract the first probate file box of this county which contains packets Nos. 1 through 67.

Pkg. #47 Estate of JAMES OLIPHANT
Citation from the Court of Ordinary of Union County VS DAVID OLIPHANT, Administrator. Date: 3 June 1796.
States: THOMAS BRANDON and SAMUEL SIMPSON who were the securities for DAVID OLIPHANT and GEORGE GORDON, Administrators of the estate of JAMES OLIPHANT, decd. state in a petition that they fear they will injure in their suretyship by the way and manner DAVID OLIPHANT has conducted himself in the management of the estate. He has taken the greatest part of the estate and removed the same to Charleston without anytime rendered to the Court an account of his receipts and expenditures of said estate. DAVID OLIPHANT has been guilty of waste in said estate. It is ordered that the citation be served on said DAVID OLIPHANT by the sheriff of Charleston District summoning said OLIPHANT to appear before the Court of Ordinary in Union County on 17 July 1796 to answer charges.

Citation from the Court of Ordinary, Union County VS DAVID OLIPHANT
Date: 17 June 1796
States: That the administration of the estate of JAMES OLIPHANT, late of this county, decd. on 5 Jan 1793 was granted to DAVID OLIPHANT and GEORGE JORDAN as next of kin to the deceased. The court has decreed that the personal estate of said decd. should be publicly sold for cash on 2nd Monday in February to answer the emergencies of said estate. The greatest portion of the estate came into the hands of DAVID OLIPHANT who did not make returns or accountings to the court on the receipts and expenditures of the estate, therefore he is to do so without further delay. This citation is to be served on said DAVID OLIPHANT by the sheriff of Charleston District requiring him to appear in Court at Union County on the 16th of July next with said accountings.

Affidavit of GEORGE GORDON of Laurens County, South Carolina, 96th District.
Date: 16 July 1796
States: Is one of the administrators of the estate of JAMES OLIPHANT, late of the county of Union, decd. and District of Pinckney, Planter, decd.
That letters of administration granted him and DAVID OLIPHANT as next of kin in January, 1793.
That the estate was appraised and the Court ordered the same to be sold at the plantation of the deceased on the 2nd Monday in February following for ready money.
That the sale took place and that the following property was purchased of the estate VIZ 16 very valuable negroes, 4 horses, a large collection of books, and a wagon.
The reason for buying the property was because of the scarsity of cash in that part of the country and the property would not sell to the best advantage for the curators.
There were two executions against the estate that were not satisfied.
The property was delivered into the hands of DAVID OLIPHANT and was to be taken by him down to Charleston as it would bring a better price there.
DAVID OLIPHANT was suppose to sell the property and satisfy the debts and had entered into a written agreement saying he would do so.
DAVID OLIPHANT sold the property but did not pay the estate's debts neither does the deponant know how OLIPHANT desposed of the property but is apprehensive that he has converted it to his own use by his imprudence and bad conduct in the administration of the estate.
Said DAVID OLIPHANT never made any returns to him or the court of ordinary.

Some of the first settlements in the up-country (the western half of the state) were created from 1745 to 1760 by immigrants from the Rhine section of Germany, the northern colonies of the eastern seaboard, and the Ulster section of Ireland. However, it wasn't until 1753, 92 years later, after the settlement on the Ashley River (1671) that the Province became interested in attracting settlers into the up-country and a bounty was offered to stimulate immigration. This consisted of a 'headright' of a hundred acres for each man, with fifty acres for each woman and child. The government, moreover, supplied the arrivals with the "the most indispensable implements of agriculture". This offer from the government was just opportune for the Scotch-Irish from Pennsylvania and Virginia who had just reached the upper Piedmont valley by way of North Carolina.

About the year 1776 Fairforest Church became the center of activity for Union County. During the Revolutionary conflict the Fairforest region of upper South Carolina was a hotbed of pro-British sentiment with the Loyalists outnumbering the Patriots. Open warfare broke out and Fairforest Church became the headquarters for the Loyalist group. This had some effect on the scattering of its membership. After thw war, it became known as Padgetts Creek Baptist Church.

By an Act ratified in 1769, the Province of South Carolina was divided into seven judicial districts: Charleston, Georgetwon, Beaufort, Orangeburg, Ninety-Six, Camden and Cheraws, but it wasn't until 1795 that Pinckney and Washington Districts were established. Pinckney embraced the present counties of Union and York and a part of Cherokee. Washington embraced the present counties of Greenville, Pickens, Oconee and Anderson.

In 1798 the nine districts than existing were divided up into twenty-four. From Ninety-Six District the districts of Abbeville, Edgefield, Newberry, Laurens and Spartanburg were formed; from Washington District, Pendleton and Greenville Districts were formed; from Pinckney District the districts of Union and York were formed; from Camden District, Chester, Lancaster, Fairfield, Kershaw and Sumter Districts were formed; from Cheraws District, Chesterfield, Darlington and Marlborough Districts were formed. The district names of Ninety-Six, Washington, Pinckney, Camden and Cheraw were discarded.

From a genealogical standpoint it is important that the researcher understand the make-up of these judicial districts.
